Welcome to the December edition...

By the time this arrives I'm sure you'll all be counting down the days to Christmas, whether it's due to excitement or if you just want life to get back to normal!

Apart from the excitement of the big day, there's always lots of other things going on at this time of year – check out page 26 to see what great new films are on at the cinema this month and what local pantomimes are playing. If you'd rather curl up in the warmth of your own home, have a look at our book reviews on page 32 or try making Scandinavian cookies from our recipe on page 33.

For those of you that eat too much over Christmas and who want to help others, why not try the Lions Festive Walk from Baddesley Clinton National Trust on 27th December (more details on page 6). There's a choice of different length routes so you can do what you're comfortable with.

I wish you all a very merry Christmas and a happy and healthy New Year.

Until next month...

Temple Fields

A NATURAL BURIAL GROUND AND NATURE RESERVE IN THE HEART OF THE WARWICKSHIRE COUNTRYSIDE

We provide an ecological alternative to a standardised cemetery which is set within a natural landscape of wildflower meadows and woodland.

About the Cemetery

Our Cemetery is set within 20 acres of untouched Warwickshire countryside, nestled within 2 Warwickshire Wildlife Reserves, and bordered by Cuttle Brook and the River Blythe. Our Cemetery is located within Temple Balsall, just outside the picturesque village of Knowle.

Natural Burials & Services

As opposed to the regimented use of gravestones, you can commemorate your loved one in their final resting place with a memorial tree contributing to the beauty of the Cemetery. We also have Meadow Burial Plots which, throughout the year, produce a spectacular display of British wild flowers.

With regards to natural burials, all caskets are constructed from bio-degradable materials with which your funeral director will advise, and of course, tailor the funeral service to your wishes.

Temple Fields is open 365 days a year with unrestricted access with mown grass paths accessing woodland walks and linking the 2 Warwickshire Wildlife Reserves, in conjunction with other Public Footpaths.

For more extensive information regarding the Cemetery, please visit our website www.temple-fields.co.uk to access photographs, local history and costs etc.

Being the best version of ourselves.

he countdown is ON! Our town looks beautiful and we are all looking forward to Christmas ..or are we? My December diary has more squeezed into it than Santa's Spanx and I know my credit card is shaking with fear of burn out, so what can we do to ensure we don't suffer the same fate by January, slumped on the sofa feeling guilty and broke!!

Looking at our values is a great way to ensure the way we behave is in line with what is most important to us. This year I am going to really look deeply at how our family celebrations fit in with my values and sometimes this will even mean I save time and money.

Bonus!

I value family and friends so spending time with them fits in great with that...I also value kindness and gifting will be a big part of Christmas... But not at great expense- I value the environment and my own well-being so will not be spending hours shopping for expensive gifts and writing cards for people I see all the time that will end up in landfill!

Whenever we see a lovely present for someone that doesn't cost the earth, we immediately feel guilty and worry it won't be enough.

But if we want to value generosity and tradition surely a bargain ticks those boxes, and at the same time is in line with values of integrity and honesty.

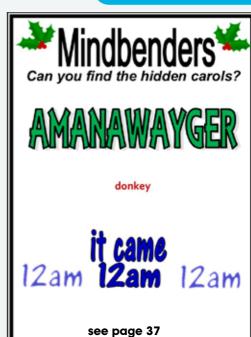

If you want to make sure your Christmas plans fit in with the values that are important to you, have a look at the GuruYou™ list of values and highlight yours. You can then think about how your plans fit in with these (or not!) and ensure you will feel good all the way through the festivities...and after!

Top Toys for Christmas

By Alison Foster

In these days of iPads and online gaming do kids still play with toys? Yes of course they do. Toys have always changed to keep up with trends and technology and 2018 is no exception. Here we have six of the best.

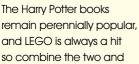

Fingerlings Untamed Dinos (under £20)

Fingerlings are popular robotic friends which cling to your child's finger and respond to motion and sound. This year is all about the dinosaurs. There are several different Raptors, and word was out at time of printing that there may be a T-Rex one released just before Christmas

LEGO Harry Potter Hogwarts Express (around £75)

vou have a winning Christmas gift. There is a Hogwarts Hall available but its super-expensive, so this is a good compromise with a nice solid train, five mini-figures plus Dementors.

Elasti Plasti (under £15)

So many kids love slime and this stuff is great. It's super-expandable and you can make giant bubbles with it. As a bonus it's non-sticky so parents will love it too, or at least not hate it!

Monopoly 'Cheaters 'edition or Fortnite Edition (£20-£25)

Almost everyone has at least one game of Monopoly at Christmas so ring the changes with the Cheaters edition. It encourages players to fake a dice roll, steal money and even skip rent. Ok...maybe it's not in the spirit of Christmas but it sounds more fun than normal Monopoly. And if you want to prise your youngsters away from the computer this festive season, try tempting them with the Fortnite edition!

Ricky the Trick-Lovin Pet (£134.99)

Ok this one is pricey, but real pups are NOT for Christmas as we know, and when vou factor in the cost and ongoing responsibility of a real puppy, including vet bills, and food, suddenly

Ricky looks very good value indeed for a dogloving child. He is soft and cuddly and has more than 100 sound and motion combinations. He can balance a biscuit on his nose and even give you a paw-shake! Frankly he makes my terrier look like a bit of a dunce. Ricky is perfect if your child is pestering you for a dog but you're not sure about the long-term commitment, and as a bonus, he doesn't shed hair!

GraviTrax Starter Set (around £50)

I love marble runs, never mind my kids, and GraviTrax is a super-cool marble run for the 21st Century. It encourages the use of imagination in creating tracks and is educational too. It's great for teaching kids (and adults) about gravity, magnetism, and kinetic energy and it's so much fun. You can use the tasks and blueprints included to help you to get started but you'll soon be designing your own tracks. This is trickier than it might appear and is great for encouraging problem-solving skills. There's even a GraviTrax app to allow you build and test a track before building it in the real word.

Why we hang Stockings?

By Tracey Anderson

And other odd Christmas traditions...

Christmas is all about traditions, but why do we hang stockings, eat chocolate logs and drink eganog (why would anyone drink eganog?!)

Stockings - Noddy Holder belting out, 'Are you hanging up your stocking on the wall?' is a Christmas tradition in itself. There's no official explanation of why we hang socks up for Santa though. It probably derives from a tradition of leaving out hay-filled shoes on December 5, the eve of St. Nicholas' feast day. Children would wake to discover that the hav they left for St. Nick's donkey had been replaced with treats or coins.

Snacks for Santa - Whether it's milk and a chocolate diaestive or sherry and mince pie. when we leave goodies for Father Christmas we're possibly participating in a tradition that some scholars date back to ancient Norse mythology! According to legend, Odin had an eight-legged horse named Sleipnir. Kids would leave treats for Sleipnir, hoping that Odin would favour them with gifts in return.

Carolling - You might suppose this is a centuriesold tradition but although the songs go back hundreds of years, visiting neighbours to bid them good luck and good cheer by singing for them didn't happen until the Victorian era.

The Yule Log – Yule logs also predate Christianity. As part of winter solstice celebrations, Gaels and Celts burned logs decorated with holly, ivy, and pinecones to cleanse themselves of the past year and welcome the next one. The practice changed over time and eventually edible representations of the log appeared, which is why we eat chocolate logs today!

Eggnog – Surely the most revolting of traditions. However, historians garee that 'noa' was probably inspired by a medieval drink called 'posset', a milky drink made with eggs, milk, and sometimes figs or sherry. These were all pricey ingredients, so it was a bit of status symbol to offer it to quests. No-one seems to know for sure why it's called 'nog', but it maybe from the old word 'noggin' which was slang for a wooden cup.

Mistletoe - This was associated with fertility and vitality by Celtic Druids because it blossomed even during the most frigid winters. Quite how we got from that kissing under the mistletoe is a mystery, but we do know that it began in the 18th Century and started with quests kissing the hand of their host under the mistletoe, then became progressively more personal over the decades that followed!

Advent calendars - The modern advent calendar. with its little doors containing sweets or small gifts, began with Gerhard Lang in the early 1900s. His inspiration was a calendar that his mother made for him when he was a child, featuring 24 coloured pictures attached to a piece of cardboard.

Christmas Cards - In these days of high postage costs, texts and emails, plus more environmental awareness this tradition may be at risk of dying out. Christmas cards are a surprisinally recent tradition anyway, with the first formal card only hitting shelves in 1843.

Feeding a Crowd at Christmas

hether it's the gradual increase in food prices over the past year, or your desire to cut back on food waste, there has never been more incentive not to over cater at Christmas. But just how do you work out how much food and drink you need when you're feeding far more people than usual? We've come to the rescue.

Turkey - Allow approximately 500g per person. This doesn't mean that you'll get 500g of meat each, simply that to get a good portion size you need to allow this much turkey-weight per person. So, if you want to feed 8 adults your turkey should be at least 4Kg, more if you want leftovers.

Roast beef or pork - If the joint is off the bone, allow 250g per serving – so 2kg for eight people. Allow 350g per serving for roasts on the bone – so around 3kg for eight.

Roasties - Everyone loves roasties! Allow 250g of potatoes per person, so 2kg for eight people.

Stuffing - You need to allow 100g of stuffing per person, so that's at least 800g for eight people!

With stuffing it's better to have more than runout, and it's great on turkey sandwiches later!

Sprouts - Unless you are a sprout-lover allow 80g per person – or 650g for eight people. If you do have any leftover they go great in bubble and squeak for boxing day brunch.

Carrots and other roast or steamed veg - 80g-100g is about right for any serving of vegetables, so you need 800g combined for eight people. I allow more because lots my family are vegetarian.

Gravy - 125ml per person is enough for a normal family, but if your relatives are like mine and treat gravy as a food group then allow double. You can always freeze leftovers for an easy addition to midweek suppers.

Cranberry Sauce - At least 50g per person. I'm sure I eat more than that though!

Bread Sauce - 75ml seems to suffice because not everyone likes it, but those that do LOVE it. Around 600-700ml is usually enough.

Christmas Pudding - A 900g pudding will be plenty to feed eight.

Custard - Treat it like gravy. 125ml per person unless your family are the type that can't stop pouring!

Unfortunately, there isn't one shopping list to suit all families, but this is a good basic guide; adapt it to suit your own catering preferences.

Happy feasting!

UPVC & Bifold Doors to Suit All Applications

Mainstream Windows is a leading supplier of all types of replacement domestic UPVC & Aluminium Bifold doors. Whether you are looking for a new front entrance, back entrance or garage options, Mainstream's expert team can advise you on the best product to suit your property, lifestyle and budget.

or front entrance and back entrance. there are three main types of products used in homes today wooden, UPVC and composite doors.

UPVC Doors

UPVC doors are available in a wide range of colours and finishes and their comparative lower cost to alternative materials has made them popular in recent years. They also have other benefits. such as a higher resistance to weathering and generally reauire less maintenance

Bifold doors

Bifold doors are built to stack neatly to one or both sides of an aperture when open. This allows people to move freely from inside to outside or from one room to another. These can be used as room dividers or to open onto a balcony or terrace.

Composite Doors

As their name suggests, they are made up from several different materials to produce a robust, secure and attractive-looking to protect vour home. The combination of materials, such as PVC. wood, insulating foam and GRP (glass reinforced plastic) results in a product that is very strong and requires no painting or varnishing to keep it looking good over its long lifetime. An occasional wipe with a damp cloth is all that is needed to keep it clean and retain its smart appearance.

Christmas with Autism

By Alison Foster

y oldest son has a diagnosis of High Functioning Autism (what used to be called Asperaer Syndrome). When he was younger Christmas nearly tipped both of us over the edge. Even without autism Christmas can be a special kind of hell, but if vou're the parent of an autistic child, or a child with sensory issues, Christmas can come with a super-sized side-serving of stress and meltdowns.

Autistic kids often find comfort in routine.

Christmas means change: decorations, Christmas music, crowds, balloons, pop-up markets and parades, disruption to the normal school timetable. There's a lot of potential for upset. Identify possible changes and pre-warn your child. It can be helpful to show them photos or create a social story to help them understand the sequence of events and what will be expected of them. If your autistic child is old enough and / or verbal enough, involve them in planning which events they want to be part of, and which events they'd prefer to skip. For events they can't avoid, what will help? A fidget toy? Noise-cancelling headphones? This approach encourages them to develop their own coping strategies as they get older.

A visual method for counting down to Christmas is useful. My son found a chocolate advent calendar too stressful, so we found a fabric one where a Christmas-themed item is added each day with the use of Velcro. Simple but effective.

Many ASD kids don't like surprises so it might be better to pre-discuss gifts. When our son was younger he didn't like wrapped gifts, even ours. We left his unwrapped, but my husband and I explained that wrapping was part of our Christmas to each other and it was important for us. We felt it was good for him to see that sometimes he needed to compromise too.

Discuss the Christmas Day schedule in advance. Who will arrive, when and how they should be greeted. Some kids (even those without ASD) hate hugging relatives so prewarn quests if this is an issue. It might be prudent to go through the etiquette for receiving a gift too. We explained to our son that if we don't like a gift we should still say thank you to show our appreciation of the thought. Be prepared for the odd slip-up! On receiving a scratchy woollen scarf from his Aunty one year he glanced at me and asked, "Do I thank her for the thought even if it was about how to make my neck as itchy as possible?" which left me smiling weakly at my bemused sister-in-law.

Finally, if they don't want to eat the Christmas food and would rather have a sandwich, or a pizza, let them. It's a small thing, don't sweat it. In the grand scheme of things it's not important. And things change. My fifteen-year-old autistic son now tucks in with the rest of us but for three years between the ages of four and seven he ate cheese on toast for Christmas lunch (because that's what he ate for lunch every day!). We look back now and smile fondly at the memory.

Merry Christmas.

COMPETITION

WIN 2 PAIRS OF TICKETS

to see Paul Jones and Dave Kelly Acoustic Duo

Wednesday 16th January 2019, 7.30pm

The Core Theatre, Solihull (formerly Solihull Arts Complex)

For your chance to win these tickets, worth $88, visit the Core Theatre website page for this event - www.thecoretheatresolihull.co.uk - to find the answer to this question:

Paul Jones and Dave Kelley are founder members of which band?

Email your answer to: thecoretheatre@solihull.gov.uk – and please put 'Blues' as the subject line

Closing date for entries is 31st December and the winner will be drawn at random and notified by email after this date.

About the Show:

Paul Jones and Dave Kelly's tangled and colourful roots go way back into the true undergrowth of the Blues tradition. As well as their own original material, they also perform the work of the greats, ranging from Howling' Wolf, John Lee Hooker, through to Sonny Boy Williamson.

After over a quarter century as presenter of his BBC Radio 2 R&B show, as a thrilling singer and harmonica maestro, and a member of The Manfreds, what Paul Jones doesn't know about the Blues can be written on a pinhead. The same can be said about Europe's leading bluesman, Dave Kelly. He's played with them all, including legends such as James Burton and Buddy Guy. Superb blues vocals combined with guitar virtuosity have elevated him into the higher echelon of international blues performers.

A live acoustic set by this dynamic duo is an occasion you'll remember.

Plants for Christmas

ith Christmas just around the corner I'm often asked what houseplants plants I recommend as gifts. Here are my top five. Hippeastrum / Amaryllis - is a remarkable bulb, which produces 60cm / 2ft tall, fleshy drainpipe stems and flamboyant trumpet flowers up to 20cm /8in across. 'Red Lion' with deep scarlet flowers; 'Apple Blossom' with pink-tinged white flowers, and 'Christmas Gift' with plain white flowers, are readily available. You can buy them as DIY plant-it-yourself kits, or as ready-planted gifts.

Citrus bushes make interesting presents. Sold at this time of year with both flowers and developing fruit, they are deliciously scented. Lemon varieties 'Meyer' and 'Four Seasons 'are lovely but also consider calamondin oranges. The plant should be kept in a light, frost-free spot over the winter with a minimum night temperature of 5C, then in the summer the pot can be moved outside.

Cyclamen persicum is wonderfully decorative.

The flowers range from white, through pink, to red. This is probably a gift for a more experienced gardener as persuading it to flower again can be a challenge, but it can be done. Keep it in full light in winter, at a steady 13C-16C. Give it a liquid feed fortnightly while it is in flower. Water less as the stems start to bend and collapse, then keep it completely dry for three months during its dormant period. Gently introduce water again as new leaves appear.

Schlumbergera x buckleyi, the Christmas cactus is a perennial favourite. It has protruding stamens at the end of succulent, flattened leaves, and pretty flowers. It likes high humidity while flowering so mist it regularly it with a fine spray of clean water, and feed it monthly with a high-potash feed. When it's finished flowering put the plant in a light spot and keep the compost just moist.

Hyacinthus orientalis 'Ostara' is a stunning hyacinth with deep-blue flowers, powerfully scented and particularly nice when planted as a trio in a bowl or basket. Christmas hyacinths are 'forced' to flower earlier than they would naturally. They need a cool spot, preferably no more than 13C, so that they do not flop. No-one wants a floppy hyacinth! The bulbs can be planted in the garden afterwards so will continue to provide pleasure in future years.

Viburnum x bodnantense 'Dawn' is not a houseplant but it makes a fabulous gift. It flowers from November, while the leaves are still on, through the winter. The pink flowers are scented and a few sprigs in a small vase at this time of year are just joyous. Even better it is totally hardy so is great for the non-green-fingered, and can be planted out of a pot at any time, if the ground isn't frozen.

Don't wrap plants, just tie a big bow around the pot. It's a thoughtful touch to provide printed or hand-written instructions for aftercare. Make sure any living plant is well watered before you hand it over. They will probably be a bit neglected over the festive period, but a good watering should make sure that they last past New Year.

Happy festive gardening.

good read reviews By Willow Coby

The Bedlam Stacks by Natasha Pulley

If you like a novel that feels like a luxurious meal in a restaurant where vou can enjoy each course at a slow pace, then this is the novel for you. This slowburner is in no rush to reach its conclusion and invites vou to indulae in the world of 19th century Peru. Pullev skilfully mixes facts and historical fiction with fantasy as the novel turns in a way that you don't expect. It is 1859 and Merrick Tremavne is asked to undertake an expedition to Peru by the East India Company. As an ex-opium smuggler, and a gardener, they want him to supervise the search for cinchona trees. The bark of these trees produces quinine, a much sought-after treatment for malaria. Despite knowing that it is a suicide mission, since others have tried and failed, he agrees to go to get away from his miserable life at home.

Once in Peru he travels to a mysterious village, given the name Bedlam Stacks. Three large pillars of rock rise into the sky with homes and shops built on to the sides of them. And this is where fact (the expedition did take place, led by Clement Markham, who accompanies the fictitious Merrick) and historical fiction meets fantasy and you realise that the novel is not going where you thought it might.

A line of salt that no one can cross, statues that move, and a priest with knowledge far beyond his years. What will Merrick discover, and will it ultimately be more valuable to him than the precious auinine?

The Enchanted Wood by Enid Blyton

Enid Blyton is an author that most adults will be familiar with and now her books are finding a new generation of readers. Whilst not as well-known as her Famous Five series, or any of her boarding school series, this is nevertheless well loved and fondly remembered.

Woods can be mysterious places, full of old trees. Some are older and bigger than others and one such tree is the Magic Faraway Tree. When siblings Joe, Frannie, and Beth move to the outskirts of the wood, they go exploring and discover the tree. Unable to see the top they decide to climb it and find that it is inhabited by many magical creatures. There is Silky the fairy, Dame Washalot who spends her time washing laundry and throwing the dirty water down the side of the tree, and Moonface, a happy man with a face like the moon who befriends the children.

At the very top of the tree is a ladder and here is the most magical thing about the tree. Each time that the children visit they can climb the ladder and visit a magical land from the Land of Birthdays to the Land of Do-As-You-Please. Some are pleasant, some are not, but whatever they are the children know that they must not stay too long lest the land moves on to another tree in another wood.

Just as the children never know what they will find at the top of the tree, neither does the reader. All the reader knows is that adventure will be had, and their imagination ignited.

Smør Bullar

Festive Scandinavian cookies, though no-one seems to know their exact origins. These small spheres of butter, flour, powdered sugar and nuts, dusted with more powdered sugar for good measure are a Christmas delight.

Preparation time: 20 mins Cooking time: 8-10 mins Makes 20-24 cookies

Ingredients

225g Butter 60g Icing sugar 300g Plain flour, sifted 1/4 tsp salt 1 tsp vanilla essence 100g Pecan nuts or walnuts, chopped fine

Extra icing sugar for dusting

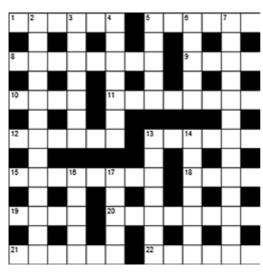

Preheat oven to 200C / Gas mark 6

Cream the butter and sugar together thoroughly. Add flour, salt, vanilla and pecans, and mix well. Cover dough and chill for half an hour.

Form dough into small balls (about 1 inch / 2.5cm diameter). If the dough seems too crumbly don't be tempted to add water or the resulting cookies will be hard, just let the heat from your hands gradually bring it all together. Place 2 inches / 5cm apart on an ungreased baking sheet. Bake until set but NOT brown (8-10 minutes). Allow to cool for 3 minutes before removing from baking sheet, then roll in icing sugar. When completely cool, roll in the icing sugar again. They make lovely festive handmade gifts in pretty boxes

Pets at Christmas

By Tom Hancock

Though Christmas is a fun time for humans, even we can feel overwhelmed. For our pets Christmas can be confusina, a bit scary and even dangerous. Here are the top reasons for emergency vet visits over the festive period, and how to avoid them.

Vomiting and diarrhoea - Often a result of Rover helping himself to Christmas goodies; one year my brother's beagle helped himself to our entire cheeseboard, with predictable aastro-intestinal consequences! But sometimes it's a result of him being fed too many treats or rich food. Ask visitors to refrain from feeding your pets unless they have permission, and keep all festive food out of reach!

CHOCOLATE – dark chocolate is poisonous to doas so seek advice immediately if vou suspect that's what he's eaten.

Lacerations or Bites: -When family members or guests bring their pet, bear in mind your dog or cat will see this as an intrusion into their territory.

and some animals are very territorial indeed. Don't leave unfamiliar animals alone together, even if they seem to be tolerating each other. In severe cases enmity separate rooms might be in order. If a guest brings a dog and your kids own a treasured hamster or guinea pig keep the small furry being well out of danger; preferably put the cage on a high shelf.

Soft Tissue Trauma – Dogs and cats can be stepped on, have things dropped on them, or be hit by cars while running around on the drive as visitors arrive. If Grandma trips over your Chihuahua BOTH miaht end up in casualty so keep an eye on pets at all times.

Foreign body ingestion - The beagle who ate the cheeseboard ate the cheese AND most of the board. Some pets will eat anything. Christmas baubles, lights tinsel and small toys. Ask guests not to leave things on the floor and keep a watchful eye on Rover. If he's quietly in a corner chewing something, check it's not Grandma's spectacles, or false teeth!
