Have a Splendid September...

Welcome to the September issue of The Solihull Index.

September's the perfect time to start updating your home, after the kids have gone back to school and before the Christmas rush starts. All of the businesses and tradespeople who advertise in this magazine work locally and would love your support.

As usual, there's lots going on in the area – from the 8th Solihull Food & Drink Festival to opera evenings at Carluccio's to an evening with Frank Bruno.

However you choose spend your time, I hope you have a great month.

Back to Cool for Mums!

It's September already! Wow! Where did the Summer go?... great weather, exams seemed on the whole to go well and we have all now taken out shares in Smiggle it seems in preparation for the new term.

As a working Mum I have to say I love spending time with my children during Summer but I am EXHAUSTED!! Most of the year is spent looking forward to a break, only to find I am doing more miles than Forrest Gump and getting way behind work wise whilst struggling to be "Fun Mum!"

"Fun Mum" does not ask her kids to do jobs, she doesn't like me set her 15 year old homework to get them focused for September and she certainly does NOT make the children get up before lunch time!...I am clearly by definition then, not Fun Mum!

But surely Fun Mum and I are both knackered on September the 2nd? Whether you have been arranging garden camping and bake days or fitting Skype calls in between social ones, we are not so different.

And so as we all head back to school, why don't us parents head back to cool?

Take a "Mumcation"...I think I made this up but I like it!!! How indulgent in term time when the children don't need you!! I had one on the children's first day back, and it was wonderful! Potter, read, shop, do coffee...anything but chores! Get some time for YOU! Your family will thank you for it!!

Reflect on your goals for the Autumn. How can you embrace the longer nights rather than dread them? What can you do in Autumn and Winter that you can't in Spring and Summer? Daily Greatness Journals are brilliant for this and help you stick to your goals. (www.dailygreatnessjournals.com )

What can you do to make your kid's lives (and therefore yours) easier? Get together to make a family list of things that you can all do to help take the pressure off a bit- I can guarantee mine will say "Nag less!"

Mindfulness and meditation are a wonderful way to help you manage the big stuff! Contact us and we can point you in the right direction!

And finally, you may want to look at your business afresh and take some time to think about how you can help that grow over the winter. Female business owners can do this with The Bird Table, business development groups starting in Henley in Arden on September 17th. (www.guruyoucoach.com/bird-table). Quote "Backtocool" to receive a 25% discount!

Beat Jetlag!

By Sarah Davey

F ACT: The human body was not designed to travel long distances at high speeds across time zones. The result of this fact is jet lag. Is there any way to minimise its effects?

Yes! Here are our handy tips to beat jet lag.

It's all in the timing - Whether you like to kick back with a good movie on a long-haul flight, or prefer to check emails and work, remember the blue light emitted from tablets, laptops and screens can delay sleep, so turn off devices one hour before your desired nap time.

Eat healthily and space out meals - Stick to light fare, such as seafood salads. Many long-haul airlines employ teams of nutritionists to design wholesome meals, designed for easy digestion and energy.

Stay hydrated - The rule of thumb is to drink at least a quarter of a litre of water for every hour you're in the air.

Get some rest - The more rest your body gets en route, the more prepared you will be to deal with the stresses of jet lag. Take a travel pillow, a small blanket, your own noise-cancelling earplugs, and an eye mask.

Match local time - From the time you board the plane set your watch to the local time of your destination. On the plane aim to move towards eating and sleeping at the time you will do these activities when you arrive. If you follow these steps you will be more likely to avoid the major effects of jetlag when travelling.

Six Reasons to Shop Local

You boost the local economy - For every £1 spent with a small or medium-sized business 63p stayed in the local economy, compared to 40p with a larger business.

You increase the value of your home - High streets populated with thriving independent businesses boost the prices of nearby homes. Discount stores and charity shops decrease home values in the area.

It is more ethical - When you shop at local butchers, bakers, farm shops and green grocers, it is likely that a decent percentage of the produce has had a short field-to-fork journey. As a bonus it means the food is likely to contain more nutrients and have less packaging

You support local entrepreneurs - Head for your local artisan market. These help foster the talents of the next generation of British designers and retailers. There is a constant turnover of new products, and sellers listen to customers' demands. From food to fledgling clothing designers there will be something for everyone.

You help to build your local community - Bookshops, cafes and craft shops often drum up custom by hosting events, from reading groups to knitting clubs and children's events. If local businesses are not supported, these fun local groups tend to disappear too.

You might get a better deal or some good advice - Local independent businesses can use their discretion to reward regular custom. Butchers will give advice on cooking times, and how large a joint you might need to feed a family get-together, with some leftovers. Get to know your local traders.

UPVC & Bifold Doors to Suit All Applications

Mainstream Windows is a leading supplier of all types of replacement domestic UPVC & Aluminium Bifold doors. Whether you are looking for a new front entrance, back entrance or garage options, Mainstream's expert team can advise you on the best product to suit your property, lifestyle and budget.

For front entrance and back entrance, there are three main types of products used in homes today – wooden, UPVC and composite doors.

UPVC Doors

UPVC doors are available in a wide range of colours and finishes and their comparative lower cost to alternative materials has made them popular in recent years. They also have other benefits, such as a higher resistance to weathering and generally require less maintenance

Bifold doors

Bifold doors are built to stack neatly to one or both sides of an aperture when open. This allows people to move freely from inside to outside or from one room to another. These can be used as room dividers or to open onto a balcony or terrace.

Composite Doors

As their name suggests, they are made up from several different materials to produce a robust, secure and attractive-looking to protect your home. The combination of materials, such as PVC, wood, insulating foam and GRP (glass reinforced plastic) results in a product that is very strong and requires no painting or varnishing to keep it looking good over its long lifetime. An occasional wipe with a damp cloth is all that is needed to keep it clean and retain its smart appearance.

Like Learning to Ride a Bike...

If learning to ride a bike a rite of passage for a child, teaching your child to ride a bike is a rite of passage for their parents. So, what is the easiest way?

The act of riding a bike comprises three individual skills combined: balancing, pedalling, and steering. One of the easiest ways to teach cycling is by teaching each skill on its own.

Balancing -

Either remove the pedals from your child's own bike or buy (or borrow) a balance bike which has no pedals. All they have to concentrate on is their balance, pushing off with their feet and gliding along. When they are confident enough to move along without wobbling or putting their feet down, it's time to reattach the pedals!

Pedalling -

Encourage your child to ride short distances in a straight line. Find a place where they can travel a short way without needing to steer or brake, so that they can focus solely on learning to pedal. This bit can take quite a while as pedalling is a good deal more complex than it looks.

Steering -

When they can pedal confidently in a straight line, set-up some obstacles for them to cycle around. Place the obstacles far apart to begin so the gaps are easy for your child to navigate without having to make big adjustments with the handlebars.

Consolidating -

The best way to increase your child's confidence is to let them cycle alongside you. Pick an easy route and cycle it together. It's a companionable way to keep fit and make your child feel they are achieving something worthwhile.

Shadows of the Workhouse

by Jennifer Worth

There are not many people who have not seen, or at least heard of the BBC drama Call the Midwife. However, few are aware that the first series was based on the memoirs of midwife Jennifer Worth, and the women and families she encountered in the East End of London in the 1950s. She wrote a trilogy of memoirs and the second of these is Shadows of the Workhouse.

When we think of workhouses we tend to think of Dickens' Oliver Twist. However, workhouses persisted until much later: the last ones only closed their doors in 1948. Among the communities that Worth worked in, many people were haunted by their recent memories and experiences in these institutions.

There is Jane, who works with the midwives but as a child in the first decade of the 1900s grew up in a children's workhouse as an unwanted child. Frank and Peggy, a brother and sister, were sent to the workhouse in 1908 when their parents died, their later lives forever affected by the harsh and uncaring institution they grew up in. As the workhouses fade from living memory this memoir provides a reminder of how they shaped the lives of countless men, women, and children.

Smart

by Kim Slater

If a King or a President is killed it is headline news and everyone tries to find out who was responsible. But as 14-year-old Kieran points out, when it is a homeless man called Colin, no one really cares. No one, that is, except Kieran and he is going to find out. When he grows up he wants to be a reporter for Sky News, and he uses his artistic skills to draw and record what he sees. Art is an escape for Kieran, and he needs an escape because secrets are all around him. The biggest secrets seem to be in his own home.

Kieran has learning difficulties and is a bit of a loner. Whilst Slater does not say directly, many readers have drawn clear comparisons to The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-time, and there are certainly many very well written autistic traits displayed by Kieran. This debut young adult novel will almost certainly appeal to readers of Curious Incident.

Whilst the novel promises a detective story, it is much more than that. It is the story of a boy who is different, trying to make sense of his life and the adults around him, who largely neither understand him nor seem to care.

Apple Strudel

September brings a glut of apples. Make the most of them with this delicious strudel recipe.

Preparation time: 20 mins

Cooking time: 40 - 45 mins

Serves 6 - 8 people

Ingredients

750g/1lb 10oz Bramley apples, peeled, cored, quartered and sliced
1½ tsp ground cinnamon
½ unwaxed lemon, zest only
2 tsp lemon juice
100g/3½oz golden caster sugar
75g/2½oz raisins
95g/3½oz butter
40g/1½oz white breadcrumbs
6 large sheets filo pastry
1 tbsp icing sugar

Method

Preheat the oven to 190C/170C Fan/Gas 5. Line a baking tray with baking parchment.

Mix the quartered apples with the cinnamon, lemon zest and juice, sugar and raisins. In a small frying pan, melt 20g/¾oz butter and fry the breadcrumbs until golden-brown, then add these to the apple mixture. Melt the remaining butter in a pan.

On a clean, dry tea-towel lay a sheet of the filo and brush with some of the melted butter. Lay another sheet on top and repeat until you have used all the filo. Layering the pastry with the melted butter helps to create flaky layers.

Place the filling along the length of the pastry along one side about 2-3cm/1 in from the edge. Using the tea-towel to help you, roll the pastry up to enclose the filling. Tuck the ends in and roll the strudel seam-side down onto the lined baking sheet. Brush with the remaining melted butter.

Bake for 40-45 minutes, until golden-brown. Leave to cool to room temperature and dust with icing sugar. Slice and serve with cream, ice cream or custard.

Serves: 6 - 8 people
Preparation and cooking
time: 60 - 65 minutes
